QUICK AND EASY INSTALLATION

Alloc Domestic flooring is installed without using glue or nails. The planks join with a simple click. The newly developed aluminum locking system makes it possible to install Alloc Domestic twice as fast as laminate flooring requiring glue and can be used immediately. Alloc Domestic locking system ensures tight, durable seams- we guarantee it! This patented aluminum locking system provides a strong, tight hold of up to 850 lbs. per lineal foot.

DURABLE CONSTRUCTION

No matter what style of Alloc Domestic you select, you can depend on it to perform well and to maintain its beauty. With a layer of direct-pressure laminate on the top and bottom, Alloc Domestic is a well-balanced, stable floor. The direct-pressure laminate surface features melamine resin and aluminum oxide, one of the world's most durable substances. This transparent surface provides protection from scuffs, wear, fade and stains without compromising design clarity. Our high-density fiberboard core adds to the floor's durability and provides good impact and moisture resistance. The built-in Silent System helps produce a more quiet sounding floor. It also saves you money and time since you don't need a separate underlayment, as you would with traditional laminate flooring.

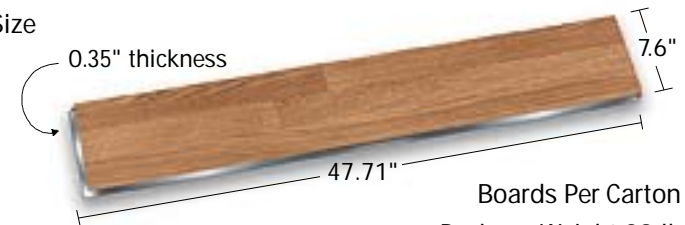

THIRTY YEAR FIVE STAR PLUS LIMITED WARRANTY

We stand behind the quality and durability of Alloc Domestic flooring for a period of 30-years. Alloc Domestic's patented aluminum joint locking system was designed to manage the forces that act on a floor. Changing temperature and humidity cause wood-based flooring to expand and contract. In response to this, our joints are flexible and can withstand up to 850 lb./ft. of horizontal force. Substantial vertical forces, such as the weight of a grand piano, are evenly absorbed by the aluminum joint system as well. Our joints don't rely on moisture sensitive PVA glue, so they won't weaken, separate or crack over time.

In addition to aligning the joints precisely and managing forces, our locking system makes it easy to replace damaged planks. In fact, you can take up Alloc Domestic and reassemble it as many times as needed.

Complement your floor with Alloc Performance Moldings. Alloc moldings have a high density fiberboard core, making it the strongest molding in the industry. Our moldings have the same fade, stain, wear and water warranty as our flooring. Alloc moldings blend with each design and nicely join your laminate floor with other floor coverings. The monotrack system secures moldings in place and eliminates the need for nails or screws.
